

Notice of Cancellation for FMCA's 101st International Convention & RV Expo

Dear RV Basics, RV Driving School, and Tucson Convention Attendees,

With escalating concern regarding the COVID-19 virus, and the Tucson mayor's recommendation on March 12, 2020, that large gatherings be postponed, on Friday, March 13, 2020, at 4:30 p.m. Eastern, FMCA's Board of Directors voted to cancel FMCA's 101st International Convention and RV Expo set to take place March 26 through 29 in Tucson, Arizona. We share the disappointment many of you no doubt feel since we will not be able to gather and celebrate the RV lifestyle this month. We understand that you made plans long ago, and some of you already are en route or have arrived in the area and have gone to some expense to do so. As you know, this worldwide crisis and pandemic is impacting many facets of life. We did not want to have to make this decision, but as time has gone on, it's become apparent that this is what we needed to do.

We understand that you will have questions regarding the cancellation policy. We ask that you please remain patient as FMCA makes arrangements for this unprecedented situation. Additional communications will follow next week, but we felt it most important at this time to inform you of the event's cancellation. If you are already in the Tucson area and need a place to stay, the Pima County Fairgrounds will have camping available for those interested in visiting the area.

FMCA's top priority has always been to safeguard the health and well-being of our members, exhibitors, and staff. Please take care of yourselves and each other as we weather this storm.

Jon Walker
FMCA National President
